- Steel arch foundation for added stability
- Durable Tough Tech sole and Traction Control Grip

- Extremely stylish When it comes to these boots, the clue's in the name. They really are the pinnacle of riding boots. 'But what makes them so good?' I hear you asking. Well, let me answer your question with another question. Do you want your boots to not only look good, but also offer you plenty of comfort and stability? You do? Then look no further, the Dublin Pinnacle Boot is the one for you. These long leather riding boots feature the Dublin Rider Comfort System (RCS), and once you wear a pair of boots with this smashing feature, you won't ever want to go back. The RCS system - sounds a bit like a car doesn't it? - consists of sweat control lining, an enhanced cushion layer, a padded heel cushion, a cupped heel and arch support and a steel arch foundation. Now you can see just why these boots are so comfortable. As well as the RCS system, they also come equipped with tough tec lightweight and durable rubber riding soles. These offer plenty of support and mean that your boots won't fall apart after one day out in the fields. Now, some people are happy to wear boots purely for their functionality. And others would rather get trench foot so long as they look good. Well now you don't have to choose between the two. That's right, these Dublin Pinnacle Boots look fandabidozi. They are made out of beautiful redskin leather and they have a slick and fashionable lacing system running up the side, which looks great. You'll be minding your own business riding through town and heads will turn to check out your awesome
