Dear friend,

I know exactly what you are going through when you try to keep your pet flea and tick-free. No matter how much money you spend on popular flea and tick products, those nasty pests keep coming back, and your pet is never safe; very dangerous, even deadly diseases threaten your pet on a daily basis. What's more, the popular products you've been treating your pet with contain extremely harmful insecticides, which cause your pet serious health problems and can potentially poison the rest of your family!

The good news is that science has finally advanced to the point where you can protect your pet from fleas and ticks in the long run without poisoning them.

I would like to invite you to visit the website below to watch a short video about the Pet Protector Disc, a product which successfully repels fleas, ticks and mosquitoes for an incredible 4-year period and is 100% chemical-free! What's more, compared to how much you would spend on toxic flea repellent products, the Pet Protector costs 20 times less!

P.S. This product is already protecting over 25 million pets around the world with great success. If you want to preserve your pet's health and extend their life-span, then take a look at the info I've provided for you and go ahead and order one. Our pets' health is not something we can afford to gamble.
