Our litter of Bengal kittens are ready for their loving homes today. They are so cuddly and cute that I really don't want to let them go. However, after much consideration, it's probably better they go to new homes. They are de-fleaed and de-wormed at the vets (paper work available) just to prevent any fleas and a good diet. They eat wet and dry food and if you need some food packs we have plenty to give away. We prefer to use good quality litter so can give some away if you want consistent. If you would like to re-home any of our bundles of joy please call,;)
