I am very reluctantly selling my Audi A3, due to my wife and I changing from two cars to one (she only drives automatic!) in preparation for living in a city. It is the rare 170bhp Quattro Sportback combination. In good condition throughout and has been well looked after since new. Some minor scratches / chips typical for age. A fantastic all-rounder that has served me brilliantly- an absolute joy to drive; offering high performance and returning 45mpg+ average fuel consumption.

There are loads of receipts with the car's history; original parts have always been used. Most recently I had the ballast and bulbs replaced on the Xenon headlights- they give off a wonderfully strong and bright beam. New Bosch battery also fitted this.
