I am selling my Black Samsung Galaxy S7 Edge as I would like to go back to using an iPhone, which is my personal preference. The phone was bought factory unlocked so you can use it on any network. It's just 3 months old with the balance of the transferable manufacturers warranty remaining. It is in unmarked condition as it's been kept in a case since new and also with a screen protector on. It is in the same condition as when it first came out of the box. It comes boxed and is complete with all original accessories, (the headphones remain unused as I have used after-market ones with it). The VR Headset has had relatively little use and is in excellent condition. It also comes boxed. I am the original owner of both and have the sales receipt to show this. I would like to get the advertised price, but am open to sensible offers. It's available for collection or delivery is also available at no extra cost. Questions are welcomed and will be answered.
