To resolve Outlook login issues you have to consider the various problems related to Outlook account. But you have to see if you are entering correct username and password. Check your keyboard to if the num lock is off. If the num lock is off you will not be able to enter password correctly because you will not be typing the numbers. You will also have to check if the Caps Lock key is turned on. In the caps lock key is turned on you will use incorrect capitalization. Apart from that you will have to see if your account is blocked or not. In case your account is blocked, you will have to wait till the time it unblocks.
