over the past year when we have been touring. I have added hooks, shelves and other convenience items to make the most of the van. The drawbar presented itself all over the years as a few items need to be replaced at this age. Most of the items are generally good condition but the gas hob it had to be replaced by now and not many people use there are no signs of smell or gas in the van. The painted chassis has no signs of rust. The van is an ideal way into to caravanning, it can be towed by a relatively small car so offers a great taster option for a beginner (as it
