Ridden in the 2014-2015 seasons, in extremely good shape, never crashed
 This is a true super bike, with my Enve wheelset , it weighs 12.3 lbs. I will include the 53/39 crankset, an extra 50/34 optional chainrings, and the Di2 battery charger. The bike is completely OEM except for the wheelset. The wheelset is an inexpensive training 1350g carbon clincher wheelset.

It rides beautifully and climbs unbelievably... but I have two super bikes which is ridiculous.

I love my bikes (you need n+1 bikes where n is the current number of bikes you have), and I always want to know everything less than perfect with them as well. So here it is: 1) the saddle has two small scratches, 2) top tube has a small nick on the right side (hard to see), 3) the fork tips have moderate nicks, 4) the crank arms have some rubbing marks from my shoes using free float speedplay pedals, 5) the wheelset has new ceramic bearings but the bearing set press left an extremely slight wiggle on the rear hub - these are the wheels you should use for training and leave in a wheel pit - they're light, perfectly true and I love them, but not perfect. Otherwise, there are no marks on the shift levers, no marks on rear derailleur, no chain slap on chainstays. Handlebar tape is brand.
