If you are not a British native, or a national of one of the European Economic Area (EEA) nations, you may require entry clearance before you travel to the UK.

Two possible ways for applying for UK Visa:

Immigration and Nationality Directorate of the Home Office Services

UK department/High Commission/Embassy abroad – Depends on category of visa you apply for.

The UK immigration focuses-based framework is the procedure used to oversee applications by people from outside the area wishing to study, work and invest in the UK.

The UK Border Agency has begun the points based framework in 2008 as a method for controlling UK Immigration; on basis of whether a person is qualified to apply for a UK visa for work or study purposes. The framework was split into five principle classifications (known as tiers) - each having their own particular separate criterion and necessities. Inside the focuses based system, there are diverse instruction and business courses accessible to outside nationals as Tier 1, Tier 2, Tier 3, Tier 4 and Tier 5.

The procedure of the application may be very long and so to get a British visa, it is critical that the candidate gives all the required data and archives.
