It's longer and offers more legroom for rear passengers along with extra boot space. It also packs some neat design touches including split rear doors, a dual-level boot floor and a single clubman side door for easier access into the rear seats. Despite the extra length and weight the Clubman feels as eager and willing as its hatchback sibling. This is the top of the range Cooper S which uses the same 1.6-litre engine, but fitted with a turbocharger to boost power to 175bhp, it's a very different car to the standard Cooper with a real buzzy and racy nature, while acceleration is rapid reinforced by a 0-62mph time of 7.6 seconds. Economy is very impressive 45mpg average. This may be a more practical MINI, but underneath it's pretty much identical to the standard hatch. That means superb handling, wonderfully direct and responsive steering along with minimal roll in corners.
