Beautiful colours and markings, shes more Husky than American bulldog. Unfortunately we got her 2 month ago from a lady who had just split with her partner, we thought she would make a great friend for our dog. They really dont get on but thats not evie's fault, our dog really can't take to her. We've been taking her out 3 times a day as she needs it, shes got a lot of energy and really playful. In the short time we've had her we've taught her small things like sit, give paw, walking without pulling on the lead, walks by your side off the lead. She's house trained to a certain degree, when your with her in the house she's perfectly trained, unfortunately if she's left alone she will have accidents. I wish my dog got on with her because she's such a loving beautiful girl. I'd advised if you have other dogs to be wary as shes now a little scared due to my dog not taking to her. Shes perfect with children and loves to be fussed, she's fully updated with injections and is chipped. She is 6 months old and we just want her to have the perfect life and to go to someone that will have the time to finish all her training and someone that can show love and.
