My son is selling his Les Paul Epiphone Electric Guitar as he has just got himself a part time job and bought himself a new Les Paul.

The guitar has a minor scratch/chip on the back of the guitar which was a result of getting caught on his school blazer button. We have tried to show this in a photo but it is difficult to show. This can not be seen when you are playing the guitar and obviously has no impact on the sound.

Other than this minor blemish, the guitar is in excellent condition, has great sound and will give its new owner years of pleasure.
